Aeon Metals Ltd (“Aeon” or “the Company”) today announced the appointment of Mr Tim Benfield as General Manager of the Company’s flagship project, the 100% owned Walford Creek copper cobalt Project.

Mr Benfield’s key role will be to co-ordinate all Walford Creek Feasibility items including amongst others; mining, metallurgy, environmental, infrastructure and logistics, as well as manage the permitting, construction and operation of the Walford Creek Project. Mr Benfield will start work with Aeon on 2 July 2018.

With over 25 years’ experience in the mining industry, Mr Benfield has held senior positions in both international and domestic resource companies, including:

- COO and acting CEO for Kingsgate Consolidated;
- General Manager at Evolution Mining’s Pajingo Gold Mine; and
- General Manager Project Development of Citadel Resource Group’s Jabal Sayid copper project, Saudi Arabia where he led the pre-feasibility study.

Mr Benfield has a Diploma in Minerals Industries and a HND in Mining Engineering from The Camborne School of Mines, and an MBA from Murdoch University. He is a Fellow of the Australian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and a Chartered Professional mine engineer (FAusIMM(CP)), and holds a West Australian First Class Mine Managers Certificate.

Commenting on Mr Benfield’s appointment Hamish Collins, MD of Aeon Metals, said:

“We are very pleased to welcome Tim to the Aeon team at this exciting time. Our in-fill Resource and extension drilling is well underway and the Walford Creek Project is advancing its Feasibility items. Tim’s experience in leading feasibility studies at other large-scale projects and his operations expertise will be particularly beneficial to Aeon at this important time.”
